The Ovarian Cancer Alliance of Oregon and SW Washington (OCAOSW) is dedicated to supporting women with ovarian cancer. This includes assistance to help women who find themselves in a critical financial need due to challenges related to their ovarian cancer diagnosis.

The Here4You financial assistance program:

- Helps women in Oregon and SW Washington who are in current treatment for ovarian cancer, or within two months of finishing treatment.
- Helps with expenses like rent, mortgage, medical insurance premiums, groceries, transportation, utilities and/or medical bills.
- Provides a maximum of $500 per month of general support, for up to six months (total maximum limit is $3,000 per person).
- Provides a one-time $500 grant for costs associated with seeing a Gynecologic Oncologist for a first-time visit, or getting a second-opinion.
- Provides a one-time $500 grant to help with transportation costs related to participation in an out-of-town clinical trial.

The Here4You financial assistance program pays bills but does not award funds directly to individuals. For more information, including an application to apply, contact OCAOSW at zoyak@ovariancancerosw.org.

The Ovarian Cancer Alliance of Oregon & SW Washington grants assistance at their sole discretion. Each application will be reviewed individually and each applicant will be contacted prior to approval. Submission of an application is not a guarantee of assistance. Verification of medical status from an oncologist is required.
